Online Resources

Applying for Employment online Tips (Provided by Central Florida Employment Council):

1. Set aside several hours to do online applications. They must be filled out completely.
2. Have your resume handy so you can copy and paste into online applications. This will save time and should prevent spelling errors.
3. Be consistent with online assessments. Do not rush through the questions because they are used as ‘prequalifies’ to check your fit for the job. There is a great deal of expense in doing references, background checks and drug screens so companies try to get as much information about your behavioral patterns as possible up front.
4. Use keywords. This one I cannot stress enough. If you are applying for a job that requires a specific skill and you have that skill- LIST IT. This will dramatically increase your chances of coming up in a search. For example list all of the computer programs you use instead of just saying Microsoft Office.
5. If you are interested in a company, go directly to their website. It does not cost them extra to list on their site, but it does for them to list on other sites. You may find jobs that are not widely advertised and increase your chances.
6. Stay the course!

Name: AARP – Work Search

Website: www.aarpworksearch.org

Phone: (407)-852-1608

Services: The program has a broad array of services to help older workers find more meaningful employment. In addition to providing access to skills assessment and training, the AARP Foundation can even connect qualified individuals with on-the-job training at companies that value your experience and dedication

Work Search Assessment: The assessment provides job and career information and services to workers who are age 40 and over -- at no cost to the individuals who register with the AARP Foundation. This assessment assesses your personal interests and skills and then creates a list of jobs that match those interests and skills.

Senior Community Service Employment Program (SCSEP): The program helps job seekers (55+) improve their skills, obtain training, and find a job. SCSEP participants are placed in temporary assignments with federal, state, county, city, or nonprofit community organizations where they have an opportunity to sharpen and develop skills while searching for a permanent job. While working in these temporary training assignments participants are paid the prevailing Federal or State minimum wage whichever is higher.
